Jean Coppoletti “Joy & Inspiration” Singing Fund

According to the family of Jean Coppoletti, “. . .at the age of 3, while lying awake in bed, Jean felt a pair of hands wrap around her neck. She was not afraid. She somehow understood these were the hands of God, touching her throat, informing her she would use her voice as His instrument. She would sing. And sing she did – effortlessly, like breathing in and breathing out. When she sang, her joy was palpable, and listeners felt the power of a woman in possession of a special gift. Jean chose to use her voice as God intended - to calm, to comfort, to inspire and to ‘move’ people.”

An anonymous patron paid for Jean’s voice lessons in high school and junior college. The Jean Coppoletti “Joy & Inspiration” Singing Fund was established to provide an annual award to a singer under the age of 21 whose voice captures the qualities Jean possessed . . .

- the gift of joy in singing
- the gift of inspiration – the ability to touch people with one’s voice

The award may be used for voice lessons, vocal training, and college tuition involved in the study of voice, and will be included in the annual Chandler Starr Miller Scholarship Competition in the Senior Voice Division.

The Jean Coppoletti “Joy & Inspiration” Singing Fund was established by Jean’s family and friends as a fond remembrance of a loving sister, mother, grandmother, aunt and friend. Jean was a professional singer, trained in opera. Born in Rockford, she attended Auburn High School and Rock Valley College. She moved to Florida in her 20’s, and sang with many vocal groups throughout Florida during her career, including the Nova Singers, and the Noel Vocal Quartet, which performed on Princess Cruise Lines and at various events. She inspired congregations as soprano soloist for The Pink Church (First Presbyterian Church) in Pompano Beach, Florida, and, most recently, for St. Gregory’s Episcopal Church in Boca Raton.

Chandler Starr Miller Competitions Winners' Recital

The Winners' Recital is a vital part of the Chandler Starr Miller Competition. It has been a long-standing tradition that all 1st place Chandler Competition winners perform at the Winners' Recital.

ALL competitors should assume that they could win their division, and therefore ALL competitors should set aside the time and date to attend the Winners' Recital. This means that ALL competitors should inform their accompanists of the possibility of performing at the Winners' Recital, and if that accompanist is not available, have an alternative accompanist on call. All 1st place winners should arrive early at the Winners' Recital for warm-up, and be prepared to announce their name and the title and composer of their piece in a loud, clear voice.

We strongly encourage all competitors to attend the Winners' Recital even if they do not win any of the prizes. The Winners' Recital gives young musicians an opportunity to network with other musicians of all ages. It also aids and inspires young musicians and their teachers as they start preparing for the next Chandler Competition and other upcoming music events.

Finally, the Winners' Recital is an event often attended by financial sponsors of the Chandler Starr Miller Scholarship Competition. An enthusiastic audience of young musicians, parents, teachers, friends, and other members of the community encourages community members and organizations to continue supporting youth music events such as the Chandler Starr Miller Scholarship Competition.
